How it was made

Flora: Nano Banana Pro made the black and white studio photograph of an unbranded supercar at 4K. Claude Code turned it into 3,273,408 dots in Canvas, one per half pixel, placed by error diffusion with a little noise so they never line up. The top half shows them all; the bottom half redraws the dots around the front wheel eight times larger. The word RESOLUTION, in Google Fonts Anton with each letter fitted to its own cell, masks both.
